

Reuniting Lost Money to Iowans

The Great Iowa Treasure Hunt is always on a mission to return unclaimed property. From my soon-to-be released fall publication in newspapers, to sending out letters to organizations and businesses, we're working hard to reunite past and present Iowans with money that is rightfully theirs.

My fall publication of the Great Iowa Treasure Hunt is scheduled to begin soon and will include thousands of names that have been added to Iowa's unclaimed property program in the last year. As part of the publication, local newspapers will be featuring the recently added names. If you don't want to wait for publication, you can always search for your name at GreatIowaTreasureHunt.gov.

We are continually adding new names to our list!

Among the Iowans who claim their unclaimed property, businesses and organizations in Iowa may also find themselves on the list. I understand the struggle public and non-profits organizations may be enduring, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic, and work diligently to reunite them with lost funds. Recently, I had the pleasure to have a Zoom check presentation for over $9,000 from the Great Iowa Treasure Hunt to Mission of Hope in Cedar Rapids. They are a Christian ministry that offers physical, emotional and spiritual help to those in need. Mission of Hope located their unclaimed property by searching online. Watch the virtual check presentation.

My office is actively working to identify unclaimed property for other public and non-profit organizations to reunite funds back to them and provide some financial relief. Returning unclaimed property to its rightful owners through the Great Iowa Treasure Hunt is one of the most rewarding aspects of my job, and I look forward to working alongside many businesses and organizations in recovering their unclaimed property.

The Great Iowa Treasure Hunt returns millions of dollars in unclaimed property to the rightful owners. Common forms of unclaimed property include forgotten savings or checking accounts, lost stocks, uncashed checks, life insurance policies, utility security deposits and abandoned safe deposit box contents. Visit GreatIowaTreasureHunt.gov to begin your search and make your claim today.