

National Disability Employment Awareness Month (NDEAM)

Celebrating the contributions of America's workers with disabilities.

I've said it before, and I stay firm in my belief. Working is about more than earning a paycheck; it's about giving you a sense of purpose, dignity and respect. Why are individuals with disabilities challenged by asset caps when pursuing that right?

Join me and IAble in celebrating National Disability Employment Awareness Month (NDEAM) in October, to spread awareness about how ABLE plans help individuals with disabilities – including those who are working – save above asset caps. In fact, IAble Account Owners earning income can contribute up to $30,590 without risking eligibility for Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Medicaid and more.

We have a lot of things planned for NDEAM, and I don't want you to miss out! Consider signing up for the IAble quarterly newsletter to stay in-the-know about all of the activities. Check out some of our resources for employees and employers to encourage inclusivity in the workplace year-round!

IAble

For Employees

For Employers

Read the Plan Disclosure Booklet for details about the Plan.